TV salutes America at Emmys

By Jay Bobbin
Tribune Media Services

How do you stage a celebration when the country is in mourning and thinking in terms of war?

That is the tough question facing those in charge of the "53rd Annual Primetime Emmy Awards." Delayed for three weeks by the terrorist attacks of Sept. 11, the event will be televised on CBS Sunday, Oct. 7, from Los Angeles' Shrine Auditorium.

Despite speculation that the humor-oriented Ellen DeGeneres would be replaced as host, she has been retained, so she's among those having to deal with the challenge of making the ceremony entertaining while remaining ever-mindful of the tragedy the entire nation has experienced.

Television has re-established itself as the prime information source for countless Americans in recent weeks, but with the gravity of the situation it has been covering, there is the possibility of viewers deeming the Emmys too frivolous at this time. To that end, executive producer Don Mischer and officials of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences, which gives out the awards, and others involved in the show have a difficult balance to maintain: making it as respectful to survivors, rescuers and the families of victims as it is relevant to the TV industry.

All My Children

Erica was upset when she saw the story about her reckless driving. Rosa protested Mateo's decision to ship her off to Texas. Tad threatened to kill David, and Jesse knocked him out. Greenlee discovered Laura had lied about the wedding arrangements. Gillian realized that Ryan would be taken care of and that it was time for her to move on. Adam spied on Liza comforting Ryan. Dixie was worried when she saw Tad talking to himself. Liza wondered if she was pregnant. Chris tried to get more information about Ryan's mother.

Next week: Mia confronts Adam.

As the World Turns

Isaac gave Bryant his old job back at Java Underground. Abigail and Adam discovered Jennifer had slept with Billy. Simon feared he was too late when he saw Katie kiss Bruno. Molly and Jake were married. Dante's efforts to kidnap Luke were thwarted by Rose. Paul offered Carly a job to secretly design for BRO. Jack was certain he saw James Stenbeck. Hal declared his feelings for Emily and he kissed her. Nick continued to flirt with Abigail.

Next week: Carly finalizes a deal.

The Bold and the Beautiful

Kristen gave her parents an ultimatum concerning her relationship with Tony. Rick told Bridget he believed Amber's pregnancy would help both of their marriages. Deacon was livid that Amber could walk away from their love and return to Rick. Ridge confronted Massimo about his connection to the Forresters. Brooke was injured in Paris and Ridge rushed to be by her side.

Next week: Massimo is furious that his plan has failed.

Days of Our Lives

Passion ignited once again for Jack and Jennifer. Marlena, John, Bo and Hope were devastated upon learning their children drowned in Puerto Rico. Brady was stung when Chloe looked lovingly at a photo of her and Philip. Marlena begged Hope to keep the secret of J.T.'s paternity. Shawn, Belle and Philip's parents were relieved to learn their children were alive.

Next week: Deadly gunshots ring out when Paul makes his final stand.

General Hospital

'Ed' work speaks for itself

By John Crook

TVDATA FEATURES WRITER

In the NBC comedy "Ed," which airs its second episode of the season on Wednesday, Oct. 17, Tom Cavanagh plays the title character as a garrulous, sometimes goofy optimist who rarely meets anyone he doesn't like on some level.

A visitor to the "Ed" set quickly notices a quieter side to the actor off-camera, however. While this is clearly a close-knit cast, Cavanagh usually passes on the bubbly chitchat of co-stars Julie Bowen and Jana Marie Hupp in favor of a quiet break alone in a corner with his guitar.

If pressed, he'll tell a reporter that he's delighted that the show is a success, but adds that he also hopes fan recognition will continue to be low-key and unintrusive. Heaven knows he isn't turning up the spotlight on himself, and his publicist rarely grants personal interviews with him.

Yet, if Cavanagh seems distantly removed from the usual Hollywood artifice, where career is everything, that slight aloofness may stem from his upbringing as a citizen of the world.

Born in Ottawa, Canada, as the second of five children, at age 6 Cavanagh moved with his parents to a small village in the African nation of Ghana, where his father set up a program to train local teachers in modern education methods. His mother taught the village locals.

Reba McEntire is a country music superstar by anyone's standards, but this year also has included a new sitcom called "Reba," at 8 p.m. Friday on WB Network.

Reba McEntire is acting

By John Crook

TVDATA FEATURES WRITER

In a music world cluttered with alleged superstars, Reba McEntire is the real McCoy, the best-selling female country singer in history with more than 45 million records sold over a 25-year career.

For now, however, the dynamic 45-year-old redhead — one of only five women to win the Country Music Association's coveted Entertainer of the Year honor — is putting her music on the back burner while she explores life as a sitcom star.

In The WB Network's Friday sitcom "Reba," McEntire plays Reba Hart, a Texas soccer mom reeling from some major life changes. Learning this new sitcom "language" is a full-time job for now, she says.

"The way I talk, I will keep country (music) with me forever," promises McEntire, "but now that I'm working on the sitcom, it's the sitcom only, nothing else until my hiatus."

Nevertheless, the singer recently participated in "What More Can I Give?," Michael Jackson's recording to benefit the families of victims in the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks, and made time to help on the phone banks during the Sept. 21 "America: A Tribute to Heroes" telethon. On a more commercial note, she has a single, "I'm a Survivor," climbing the country music charts.

By any measure, 2001 has been an extraordinary year for McEntire, spanning a major Broadway triumph, a smash music tour and now her debut as a sitcom star.

Week brings tricks and treats

By Jacqueline Cutler

TV DATA FEATURES WRITER

Real life is so terrifying lately that even faint-hearted viewers may find settling in with make-believe ghouls on the tube more comforting than watching most of what's on the news this week.

Of course, many Halloween programs are not suitable for children, unless they happen to be Wednesday and Pugsley Addams. For all the rest, there is "Halloweentown II: Kalabar's Revenge," a new sequel to the 1998 TV movie "Halloweentown" starring Debbie Reynolds, which airs Sunday, Oct. 28, and Wednesday, Oct. 31 (aka Halloween), on the Disney Channel. Reynolds reprises her role as Grandma Aggie, a witch who joins forces with her granddaughter Marnie (Kimberly J. Brown) to save people in danger of becoming the costume they're wearing. Also, the eternal question "Scooby Dooby Doo, where are you?" is answered with a marathon on Cartoon Network running from Tuesday, Oct. 30, through Halloween.

Adult Halloween fare is much more varied, but, of course, nothing says Halloween like a nibble from a vampire. On that scariest night of the year, American Movie Classics offers 24 hours of vampire movies, beginning with Bela Lugosi's classic "Dracula" (1931). Variations of the immortal blood-sucker can be seen throughout the day in "Son of Dracula" (1943) and "Love at First Bite" (1979). Also on Halloween, Turner Classic Movies offers "Vampyr" (1932) and the creaky but scary "Nosferatu" (1922).
